

Seaposter

– the magazine of the Maritime Postmark Society

Seaposter was the society magazine of the Maritime Postmark Society which was active from 1939 to 2009 when it ceased publication. Some of the MPS members, who were from all around the world, have since joined the TPO & Seapost Society and have become welcome additions to their new Society.

Seaposter magazine lists world-wide paquebot marks and other maritime marks, including sea post offices, as they were discovered and recorded by MPS members.

Now, thanks to a few members of the TPO & Seapost Society who have scanned the pages and prepared an index we are able to publish almost all editions of Seaposter on one DVD for the benefit of researchers, enthusiasts and future generations, so that the information so painstaking collected by previous collectors will not be lost.
